BOYLE SUBMITS; SEEKS LICENSE

Two More Fines Assessed in Police Court.

Chief Collins Investigating Story That Love Was Released in Louisville.

INTENDS TO HAVE WITNESS

With $200 in fines and the costs hanging over him, attorneys for Hugh Boyle, saloonkeeper at Fourth street and Kentucky avenue, gave in this morning and said they would make application for a new license before the board of councilmen tonight. In the meantime, Boyle has closed up his place and his attorneys said they would pay the fine after they had seen what the board of councilmen will do tonight with the application. No intimation was given out as to the course to be pursued, in case the council refuses the license.

Boyle was fined $60 for Sunday selling, appealed, applied for injunction and applied for writ of prohibition. The cases went to the circuit court and one clear to the court of appeals and other points at issue are pending.

Mayor Yeiser revoked his license and had him arrested five times for selling without a license, because Boyle, on advice of his attorneys, kept open. It was this proceeding that caused the multiplicity of suits. Two warrants were sworn out under an ordinance declared invalid, and at a special session the general council amended the ordinance and three more warrants were sworn out.

Judge Cross vacated the bench on request of the defense, and Judge E. H. Puryear was substituted. He fined Boyle $100. Two more cases came up in the police court this morning with Special Judge W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., on the bench. By agreement Boyle accepted a fine of $20 in each case.

It is believed in some quarters that the attitude of councilmen in the matter has been ascertained while others think the council will support the mayor, and decline to renew the license, except on the mayor's recommendation. The mayor stated this morning that he had not been requested to make any recommendation in the matter.

Love Got Off Free.

Empty handed Detective Will Baker returned from Louisville Sunday morning, Will Love, whom he had gone after, having escaped through an alleged technical defect in the attachment. He immediately went across the river to Jeffersonville, Ind. "We failed to get Love," stated Chief Collins, "Baker caught him all right and took him before the night captain of police in Louisville, who said that the attachment was technically wrong and refused to hold Love." Love is wanted here as a witness against Hugh Boyle for selling liquor on Sunday. He was recognized in the sum of $100 to appear against the saloonkeeper, but left. It is said, local parties have offered to pay Love's bond if he is allowed to go.

Chief of Police Collins said he will investigate the story about the night chief at Louisville setting Love free on a technicality and would continue the effort to bring the young man back here.

DECOMPOSED BODY FOUND.

Leaning Over Raft in Attitude of Drunkenness.

Columbia, Miss., Aug. 19.—A decomposed body, stooping over the edge of a raft of logs in Pearl river, in the attitude of drinking, discovered by parties today, revealed the tragedy of the watermelon thief. The farmers have suffered so much from the depredations of melon thieves that they have been putting strychnine in melons with a view of breaking up the community ideas possessed by some people. The discovery of the victim on the river bank will have a wholesome effect. He was a youth of 16 or 17 years, but his identity is unknown. After eating the melon he evidently went to the river to drink, and died in the act. The attitude in which the body was found made it a most gruesome spectacle.

SECOND SECTION OF TRAIN STRIKES FIRST

Collision at Union Station Damages Coach But Hurts No One.

With a crash that sent sleeping passengers from their berths and piled them in a heap at the far end of the car, the second section of fast passenger train, No. 104, from Memphis to Louisville, went into the rear end of the first section, at 1:25 o'clock Sunday morning at the Union station here. The accident was due to the fog, the engineer on the second section not being able to see the rear of the waiting first section. The first section of No. 104 was pulled by engine, No. 1038, Engineer Grogan and Conductor Hazelwood. The second section was pulled by engine, No. 2002, Engineer Wicks and Conductor Plack. They were running several minutes apart and the first section reached Paducah on schedule time and laid the usual short time. In rounding the curve Engineer Wicks failed to see the rear lights on the standing train because of fog and the crash came. Engine, No. 2002, suffered a broken headlight and slightly bent head end. The coach struck was shattered in the rear and the back trucks shoved half way under the coach. It was sent out here for repairs. No one was injured.

AN ARREST IS MADE IN TRANSFER CASE

Charged with illegally using transfer slips, the property of the Paducah traction company, Will Bradford, a former employee of the company, will be tried this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Magistrate C. W. Emery. Bradford had been out of the city in the meantime over 200 slips, which had been punched with a nail, were passed on conductors. Through strategy it was learned Bradford had several books of slips, and he was summoned to appear for trial. He had heretofore borne a good reputation.

TEACHERS GRANTED COUNTY CERTIFICATES

Three applicants for county teachers' certificates examined Friday and Saturday last, were granted certificates this morning, their work having been satisfactory. They are Byron Kirkpatrick, Grahamville; Eddie Finley and Miss Lizzie Lee, of Calvert City. They all have schools.

This morning the Acadia school in the Wallace park neighborhood opened. County Superintendent S. J. Billington stated that he had supplied teachers for all schools except one, the Lee school in the northwest portion of the county.

GLASS PLANT STARTS MONDAY, AUGUST 26

The new glass factory, managed by Harry M. Finley, will start up on or about August 26 with 30 hands. The factory has been delayed by construction of bridge and track across Island creek into the company's property, by the N. C. & St. L.

Mr. Finley states that he has a large amount of business already booked, more than enough to keep the factory running full force, for over a year and a great deal more in sight. The operation of a glass plant is most interesting and Mr. Finley invites the public to pay a visit to the factory on Meyers street, Mechanicsburg.

BROTHERS MAY RUN FOR LEGISLATURE

Situation in Livingston--Crittenden District.

Graves County Deputy Sheriff Captures Fugitive Charged With Old Murder.

BODY OF WILLIAM GUTTON.

Marion, Ky., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Voters of the Livingston-Crittenden district may have to make a choice for legislator between brothers living in the same county. The Democrats have already nominated Thomas Paris, of Livingston, a recent convert from Republicanism, and the Republicans are talking of naming his brother, W. F. Paris, of the same county, who has remained true to the faith. This will be, perhaps, the first time Thomas Paris has ever voted the Democratic ticket. Albert Butler is also mentioned by the Republicans, who will name somebody from Livingston county, where the fight is going to be, and have fine prospects of electing the representatives. The committee meeting did not materialize here Saturday on account of a storm, which kept the Livingston county members away. Another date will be set, when arrangements will be made to nominate a legislative candidate.

The county committee elected J. A. Davidson, as candidate for assessor to fill the unexpired term of the late Anthony Davidson, his son.

Harry Blake Captured.

Mayfield, Ky., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Deputy Sheriff John Galloway earned the reward of $250 offered for the capture of Harry Blake, colored, charged with the murder of Hattie Lee Boatwright, colored, October 6, 1905. Blake and the woman quarreled and she was killed. The grand jury indicted Blake and a reward of $200 was offered by the state and $50 by private parties. It is believed the fugitive has been hiding in the vicinity of Mayfield most of the time since the killing. He was caught Saturday night.

The body of Will Gutton 18 years old, was brought back today from Arizona, where he was killed by falling down the chute of a copper mine. He was a native of this county and had been gone five months.

County court is in special session today, to take action on the road tax injunction.

Benton School Opens.

Benton, Ky., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—The Benton graded school opened this morning with an attendance of nearly 300. The attendance is large and the prospects for the best nine months' school the city ever had are good. This is the second year of the graded school. Prof. Lovett is superintendent and he has three assistants.

Night Riders Warn Him.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Letters containing threats of death if he disregarded a warning of the "Night Riders," that he must remain away from his old home in Caldwell county, have been received by Robert W. White, of Hopkinsville. White is accused of influencing his relatives and friends against joining the tobacco pool.

Autos Run Too Fast.

Lone Oak, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—If automobilists do not run their cars more slowly through Lone Oak there will probably be some drastic measures taken. Not that the residents have any objections to automobiles, but it is the speed at which the chauffeurs run their machines. Lone Oak has no village government but the residents are demanding that relief be given, and if not by a law regulating the speed in the county or through hamlets, then the residents will seek deliverance from the evil themselves.

The Lovelaceville road from Paducah and through Lone Oak is smooth and with few turns and hills, and when some owners of cars go out for a spin, it is without any regard of the safety of pedestrians or of horses. Lone Oak is well settled, and when the cars come whizzing through at the rate of 20 to 40 miles an hour the limit has been reached. Several accidents have happened in the past few weeks, although none seriously, but this precaution may save some fatal accident.

Yesterday one car whizzed through and frightened a horse to a buggy occupied by Miss Jane Goulson and Mr. Luther Goad, and both occupants were thrown out and the buggy wrecked. Neither Mr. Goad nor Miss Goulson were injured beyond a few bruises. Another horse was hitched and was frightened by the same car and the horse started to run but was stopped before any damage was done.

Wade Brown Brings Prisoner and Serves Papers After Long Chase

Captain Wade Brown, deputy United States marshal, arrested Bob Waterfield, who was indicted several months ago for bootlegging. Waterfield has been keeping out of the marshal's path since the indictment. Marshal Brown had a chase after R. G. Williams last week that kept him out several days. Williams is a merchant at Cherry and his creditors forced him into involuntary bankruptcy, and the papers were given to Marshal Brown to serve. Williams had left in a buggy overland, and had 24 hours start on the marshal, but he secured a colored driver and the chase began from Calloway county to Stewart county, Tennessee. Finally Williams' horse began to fail, and the marshal urged on until he overtook his man and served the papers. A total of 65 miles was covered in the chase, over the roughest kinds of roads, but the plucky marshal never quit until he served the papers.

AUTOIST PREVENTS INJURY TO OLD MAN

Mr. George Weikel Stops His Auto Car Just in Nick of Time.

Rare presence of mind and quick action on the part of Mr. George Weikel saved "Uncle" Horace Trice, colored, about 70 years old, from probable death under the wheels of Mr. Weikel's big auto car at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When a collision was seen to be impossible Mr. Weikel, who was driving, threw his lever and stopped before the wheels passed over Trice's prostrate form. Contractor Weikel was driving his car on Madison street, and when approaching Thirteenth street saw Trice hobbling slowly along. He gave the customary warning and slowed up a bit. Trice turned and started to one side, the same side that Weikel's car was taking. Weikel acted quickly in stopping his machine. The prostrate man was conscious when picked up and taken into Kirchhoff's grocery nearby. In a short time, after medical examination showed no bones broken or serious injuries sustained, Trice was able to walk home a short distance away on Monroe street.

Paris, Aug. 19.—Advices from Casa Blanca say that General Drude feels confident that he can repulse any attack of the natives with the force now under his command. He has so arranged his outposts that surprise is impossible, and the warships have their guns trained on the outskirts of the city ready at an instant to open fire on any attackers.

LIBRARY LIGHTING UP TO COUNCILMEN

System is Condemned and Does Not Give Satisfaction.

Lighting of the public library has been condemned and a committee, headed by President E. W. Bagby, waited on Mayor Yeiser this morning to ask him to submit the condition to the general council. Mayor Yeiser agreed to do so and will bring up the matter at the regular meeting of the board of councilmen tonight.

The lighting is bad, from the view point of the library patron, and the inspector has declared the wiring bad. The library board is allowed less than the amount it really ought to have for maintaining the institution and replacing books and adding to the collection. The building belongs to the city, and as such extraordinary expenses as wiring the place were not comprehended in the appropriation for the year, the members of the board decided to leave the matter with the general council.

UNION MAN REMAINS FIRM; CUTS THROAT

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—William C. Payne, a striking carpenter, refusing to desert the cause of his fellow workmen and accept non-union employment and made despondent by his inability to obtain work as a union man, ended his life this morning by cutting his throat at his home, 2324 Thirty-second street. He was 37 years old and leaves a wife and four sons.

MOTOR BOAT EXPLODES.

Two Are Killed in Accident on the Seconnet River.

Tiverton, R. I., Aug. 19.—A gasoline tank in a motor boat in the Seconnet river exploded last night, causing the death of two persons and seriously injuring five others. The boat contained 14 young people, who had been on a trip to Newport from Fall River, and had stopped at Tiverton on their return.

George Antuya and Lydia Mercier were killed and the injured are all suffering from severe burns.

Crimes in Paris.

Paris, Aug. 19.—Paris is now experiencing a crime wave similar to that which swept over New York. For the past few weeks there have been many attacks on women and children, but fortunately the criminals were discovered and driven off or taken into custody before they could carry out their criminal intentions. Two cases were reported today of assaults on women, the offenders making good their escape. Not alone in the poorer quarters, but in the most fashionable sections of the city have the attacks been made, and so numerous have they become that there is talk of reviving the guillotine as a penalty for the crime.

New Residence Started.

Work was started this morning on a two-story brick residence of Mr. H. C. Warden at Twenty-fifth and Jefferson streets. The house is to be completed in three months, and will be a neat structure.

NEW YORK CENTER OF WIRE TROUBLE

President Small Will Go There Probably.

General Strike Order Did Not Bring Out Many More Men During Last Week.

CLAIMS MADE BY BOTH SIDES

New York, Aug. 19.—The strikers of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union began work in earnest to draw out the strike breakers who are at work in the main offices of the Western Union and Postal companies on Broadway. After an all-night session the board of strategy put men at work on several plans which the members believed would further cripple the companies.

The leaders of the strike spent the day in encouraging the men. Every effort was made to disprove the optimistic statements which continue to come from the company officials that business was being handled satisfactorily. The leaders declared that they did not expect the companies to weaken inside of a month, and that the strikers must be prepared to hold out 90 days.

New York will replace Chicago as the strike center. President Small will likely come here and occupy the headquarters which Deputy President Percy Thomas has secured for him at the Astor House. Commissioner of Labor Neill on whom President Roosevelt relies to represent the government has returned to Washington, but will hurry here as soon as there is any indication of arbitration.

Wall Street Men Out.

The operators employed in the Wall street firm of J. S. Bache & company walked out this morning when the firm finally decided not to sign the schedule granting a minimum wage scale of $30. Other firms will be deserted unless the brokers who pay small wages come to time.

The J. S. Bache & company operators were paid off after they closed their keys, and their places were taken by strikebreakers, who had gathered in anticipation of the walk-out. The strikers went to union headquarters, where they discussed their grievances against the firm. They declared that operators employed in the firm's branches at Saratoga, Rochester and Albany walked out.

Threatening Notices.

Many of the strikebreaking operators were served today with a "summons," commanding them to appear for trial at the Manhattan Lyceum tomorrow unless they wished to be found guilty of treason. Attached to the "summons" was an offer of forgiveness. The formal-looking document began:

"Do you realize that you have been charged in the court of human nature with the highest form of crime known to mankind—treason—a crime against humanity?"

"This warning will be clicked over the wires to all working telegraphers who can be reached. The union telegraphers in the broker offices will help circulate it."

Waiting Game.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—The telegraphers' strike has all the appearance of Accuse R. R. Men of Murder.

Boulder, Colo., Aug. 19.—Information charging murder was filed today by Assistant District Attorney T. A. McHarg against John W. Reeves and Kiser, it is alleged, confessed that they started the fire which caused the explosion.

ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH WILL BE PUBLISHED

Much interest has been aroused in the speech of President Roosevelt at the laying of the cornerstone of the Pilgrim memorial monument at Provincetown, Mass., tomorrow. It was reported that advance copies received in Wall street, New York, caused stocks to go up Friday, and anti-administration papers have charged that the president will call a halt in the prosecution of trusts. The Sun will publish the speech in full as it is made tomorrow, giving its readers the opportunity to digest its meaning and import for themselves.

Mr. O. D. Schmidt, the architect, returned Saturday night from Princeton, where he is superintending the erection of the building for the Presbyterian college. Everything will be completed by September 15, the opening of the college.

Owing to the fact that many of the Ohio and Green river packets have been experiencing a great deal of trouble of late in getting rousters, says a Spottsville, Ky., special to the Nashville American, Capt. Lee Howell, of the Evansville and Green River Packet company, contemplates the establishment of a negro colony on the banks of Green river, near here. He says he will lay out a town and import several hundred negroes from Alabama and Georgia. He will pay them well and permit them to spend so many days a month at their homes. Each negro will have a house of his own, and a large garden patch, and Capt. Howell thinks in this way he will be able to get plenty of them to join the colony and run his boats for him. River men say they have never experienced so much trouble in getting help as this season. Many of the negroes have refused to go on the boats as rousters at $60 a month and board.

The Savannah was at the wharf yesterday en route from the Tennessee river to St. Louis with a good trip of freight and passengers. The first rise for many days came yesterday when the river crept up the bank .4 yesterday morning and other rise of .2 was registered, leaving the gauge at 5.4. Rainfall Saturday was .12. Weather clear this morning and business was good with the packets.

The Clyde is due to arrive tonight from the Tennessee river. She will remain here until Wednesday before starting on her return trip.

The Inverness arrived this morning from the Cumberland river with a tow of ties for the Ayer & Lord Tie company.

The Joe Fowler was loading freight all morning for her trip to Evansville and landings. The John Hopkins will be the Evansville packet tomorrow.

Mr. Ellie K. Ford, chief engineer on the Dick Fowler, left today for Chicago, Saratoga, the Jamestown exposition and other cities in the east. Mr. Harry Mix will be in charge of the engines until Captain Ford's return.

The Cowling was in and out on time today with both trips, and the sturdy little packet had all the business she could handle.

Capt. Leslie Bennett, of the Fannie Wallace, has returned from Dawson Springs.

The Blue Spot was preparing to get away today for the Tennessee river after a tow of ties.

The Dick Fowler left on time this morning for Cairo with the start of a good Monday morning's trip. A good list of passengers was aboard when she pulled out.

The Harvester is still tied to the bank below the wharfboat receiving repairs. She is having new "nigger" boilers installed.

Mr. Harry Blackford, night river salesman for the West Kentucky Coal company, is ill of malarial fever and unable to be on duty. Mr. Emmett Graves is filling his position.

The Peters Lee passed down from Cincinnati en route to Memphis Sunday with a good trip. This may be the last trip for the big packet unless a rise comes. If the present rise continues it may have some effect in keeping the boats in service.

Like the Arabs that stole softly in, pitched their tents and then folded their tents and quietly left, the government boat, Cherokee arrived yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock and remained here about an hour. River men were not expecting them, and only a few rivermen were so fortunate as to obtain a glance of them. After going up the hill for mail, they left for Cairo.

Capt. Lem Moss, who has been on the Fannie Wallace, has gone to Brookport and has taken charge of the Lizzie B. Archibald.

Repairs to the Bob Dudley will not be completed before Wednesday and then Capt. Taylor expects to lower the packet into the river in first-class trim.

The Saltillo arrived yesterday from St. Louis and after unloading and receiving freight left for the Tennessee river with a good trip.

ERROR IN NINTH BEAT LOCAL TEAM

Had Game Won Until That Started the Balloon.

How Metropolis Blues Defeated Independents in Prettiest Game This Year.

THE PLAYING BY INNINGS.

An error made in the ninth inning, when the Independents all but had the game, was responsible for a balloon ascension of Paducah players, and hits with more errors following, tallied Metropolis Blues five runs and four hits. The heart was taken out of the locals, and with renewed ginger and confidence the visitors prevented the locals from scoring again. Until the first of the ninth inning, Paducah had tallied once, had three hits against the visitors, two, and errors even, one and one.

It was until this time one of the finest games ever seen on the diamond. Metropolis Blues arrived at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in a gasoline launch and waited for dinner before going to the grounds. At 3 o'clock they reported and went in for practice. The grand stand was well flecked with fans eager to see the contest. Game was called by Umpire "Dutch" Dicke at 3:40, and it was an exhibition of snap and ginger from start to finish. Davis, of Murray, a southpaw was in the box for Paducah against Dye, the crack pitcher of the Blues. Davis allowed but two hits until the ninth inning. By two hits in succession, and expert base running the locals managed in the fifth inning to break into the home plate with one run.

In the fatal ninth inning Davis pitched a twister and the batter caught it squarely sending it hard to Bob Hayes on third sack. Hayes turned his back to it, thinking it would bounce. Hayes had been ill the latter part of the game but had played good ball until then. The ball went to far left field and was quickly handled to second shutting off the runner. Two doubles to the outfield, assisted by an error and general tangle up of Paducah players netted four runs for the visitors.

In the last half of the ninth Paducah hitters were unable to do anything with the Blues, although Hessian batted out a nice single to revive the stunned locals.

The score:
Inn. 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9—R H E
Pad. 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—1 4 3
Met. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 5—5 6 1

Batteries—Davis and Block; Dye and Doyle. Umpire Dicke; time, 1 hour 25 minutes; attendance, 300.

The Line-up:
Paducah—Block, c.; Davis, of Murray, p.; Hessian, 1b.; Brahe, 2b.; Hayes, 3b.; Jones, ss.; Eddie Smith, lf.; "Dutch" Robertson, cf.; Williams, of Murray, rf.
Metropolis—Doyle, c.; Dye, p.; Gregory, 1b.; Faulkner, 2b.; Reilmeyer, ss.; King, 3b.; Craig, lf.; Shaw, cf.; Ward, rf.

Gossip of the Game.
Pitcher E. A. Davis and Outfielder Z. H. Williams, of Murray, who played such excellent baseball against Metropolis for Paducah yesterday, returned home this morning. They will return to Paducah with a Murray catcher in a few weeks to meet the Metropolis Blues again.

It is probable that Manager John Holian will get a game at Mound City with the team of that place for Sunday. If not, he will make a date with the Murray team for Sunday at Paducah. Following the Paducah Mound City or Paducah Murray game, the "Blues" and locals will meet again on local field.

Changes will be made in the infield for next game. Block will be relieved by a Murray catcher and sent to the outfield. "Dutch" Robertson will be pulled in from outfield to third base.

Pitcher Davis struck out 14 Metropolis batters yesterday.

A Snappy Game.
In a fast and snappy game the Pearls defeated the Culleys yesterday morning at Wallace park by a score of 8 to 1. The score does not tell how hard both sides fought to win, and the Culleys did not give up until the last inning. The first of the game was exciting. Dunbar pitched for the Pearls and had his usual speed, and the Culleys could not find him when a hit was needed to score. Barnett did the work for the Culleys, but he was handicapped by the errors of the men behind him. Twelve errors were made by the Culleys. It seemed an off day for the team, that had not lost a game in the city this season. Two more games will be played by the teams for the championship of the city, and the Culleys will try hard for the two games. The Pearls have challenged any team in the 18-year-old class for a game.

By Innings the game was:
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Pearls . . . 2 2 2 0 0 0 0 0 2—8
Batteries—Pearls, Dunbar and Harbour; Culley, Barnett and Block.

TAFT'S LONG TRIP GIRDLING EARTH

Will Complete One Hundred Fifty Thousand.

Goes To Open Philippine Congress and Journey Through Manchuria.

WILL SPEAK AT COLUMBUS.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Secretary of War William H. Taft has set forth upon one of the trips, which have been so marked a feature of his political career. According to his plans he will make a circuit of the globe before returning to Washington the latter part of November or early in December.

Secretary Taft is to represent the administration at the opening of the Philippine congress on October 26, and from the Philippines he will return by the Trans-Siberian railway to St. Petersburg, returning from there to the United States by way of Paris and London.

The trip across the continent to Seattle, from which port the secretary of war will sail for the Philippines, will be a leisurely one, with stops at a number of points to deliver speeches. These speeches will be of a political character and will mark the real opening of the Taft campaign for the presidential nomination.

The first of these speeches is to be delivered at Columbus, O., tonight. He will speak at that time under the auspices of the Buckeye Republican club of the capital city of Ohio. This speech is awaited with keen interest in political circles as it is expected to sound the keynote of the Taft campaign. The secretary of war on this occasion is expected to answer the attacks on himself in connection with the tariff revision question, to defend the position of the administration with respect to the Brownsville affair, and appeal to the voters as the representative of the Roosevelt policies. The speech will be a direct reply to the challenge recently issued by Senator Foraker.

After leaving Ohio Secretary Taft is scheduled for speeches in Kentucky, Oklahoma, Missouri, and at Denver, Portland and Seattle. He will arrive at the last named place in time to sail on the Manchuria on September 10.

The trip to Manila will be made by way of Japan and China. The stay in the Philippines will be short. The return from the Far East will be made by way of the Trans-Siberian railway and Europe. It is stated that this route has been adopted in order that a week or more may be saved in getting back to Washington. But as the secretary travels up through China and then over the battlefields of Manchuria, he will be traversing a region where at the present moment commercial and political problems of the first magnitude are being worked out. Mr. Taft will travel unofficially as soon as he has discharged his mission in Manila, but the tour through the Far East of a man so high in the administration will be watched with interest by the competitors of the United States.

On his journey around the world Mr. Taft will be accompanied by his wife, his son, and his secretary. A fourth member of the party will be Montico Taft, a Filipino, who adopted the secretary of war as his father, a year or so ago.

Apart from the political results of his trip, Secretary Taft will have established a record for a cabinet minister's wanderings. Very few men of his position have ever traveled around the world while in office, and it is calculated that when he sees this city again he will have concluded 150,000 miles of journeyings to and fro on the face of the earth since he became a member of the president's official family.

Uncertainty in Politics.
Herbert Parsons, president of the New York county Republican committee, was talking in Albany against self-confidence in politics.
"To win," he said, "a man should never be sure of winning. Confidence and boasting, to my mind, always imply defeat. I'll tell you a story."
"A man came shooting from a brightly lighted window one night and landed with a crash on the sidewalk."
"It's all right," he said to the crowd that had gathered, as he stiffly arose. "That's my club, the Eighth Precinct. I'm a Smith man and there's ten Jones men in there. I'm going back to them: You stay here and count them as they come out of that window."

"He limped back into the club. There was a great uproar. Then a figure crashed through the window and struck the sidewalk with a grunt."
"That's one," said the crowd.
"No," said the figure, rising. "Don't start counting yet. It's me again."—Rochester Herald.

A Surprise.
Gen. Wheeler's body was brought to Washington draped in the confederate flag as well as the Stars and Stripes, under both of which he had served so efficiently. While the body lay in state, an old confederate soldier who had fought under General Wheeler in General Early's division, having heard of the confederate flag and wishing to see his dear old leader in the light of long ago, made strenuous effort and at last stood beside the coffin. But on reaching Washington the Stars and Bars had been removed by order of the president, and the veteran looked in vain for his old flag. Then he looked at the body cad in the blue uniform, and, solemnly shaking his head, muttered:

"Wall, by gee, gen'l! when you git on 'tother side and Jubal Early catches you in them togs, I'm bettin' you'll git the puttiest cussin' that ever cum your way!"—August Lipincott's.

The Closed Season.
"I observe with satisfaction," said the midsummer visitor, "that the doors of your saloons are closed Sundays. That's a most excellent law."
"Yes," replied the native, "but many of our churches are closed by law, too."
"You astonish me!"
"Well, the latter is an unwritten law," the native had to admit.—Philadelphia Ledger.

King George's Farm.

When we entered Athens we were informed that King George was out of town, at Corinth or Patras. We were informed that he is a democrat and social gentleman and likes Americans, and we would have been glad to shake hands with him.

Greek gentlemen inform us that King George is very popular. A young Englishman of considerable culture and brightness who had been five years in Greece doing newspaper work says the Greeks are not particularly in love with King George, but that he is very shrewdly attending to his own royal business and vastly not enlisting the country. The king is said to be doing a profitable private business, having, besides other properties, a "finc" farm, where he raises chickens, cherries, grapes and other fruits and manufactures wine.—Athens Correspondent Minneapolis Journal.

SPOKE FACTORY BURNS TO GROUND

$15,000 Blaze Visited Paducah Saturday Night.

Fifty Men Thrown Out of Employment When Little's Mill Is Destroyed.

400,000 SPOKES CONSUMED.

A fire throwing 50 men out of work, temporarily, and causing a loss of $15,000 visited Paducah Saturday night when the Little spoke factory's main mill burned to the ground. The origin of the fire is unknown, being discovered after it had gained a good start, by Patillo Kirk, special agent for the Illinois Central, who was on the station platform a short distance away, and Night Watchman John Kelley of the factory simultaneously. Kirk pulled the box located at the end of the platform while the watchman telephoned in the alarm. At the time, 9:20 o'clock, flames were leaping out of windows, hungrily eating out the interior of the main mill.

Fire companies, No. 2 and 4, were first called, and when Chief Wood arrived on the scene, ordered out the No. 3 company, reserving the No. 1 for protection down town.

Hydrants were far from the scene of the fire, the factory being located beyond the N. C. & St. L. crossing, and running alongside the Illinois Central. The No. 2 fire engine was dispatched to the scene and pumped water on the brands and against nearby buildings until 2 o'clock Sunday morning. It was pronounced excellent work by the department. Mr. John Little, owner of the mill.

Besides the mill building and machinery, it is estimated that fully 400,000 spokes were destroyed. Mr. Little estimates his loss at $15,000, half covered by insurance. He will rebuild at once.

A sawdust patch reaches from the main buildings to the dry kiln and other nearby branches of the plant. The rain Saturday thoroughly soaked the sawdust and this to a great degree prevented a spread of flames.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by all druggists. 5c.

Gets Drunk on Gasoline.

Getting drunk on gasoline is a failing of young George B. Hill, who was brought before Judge Sulzberger, in the juvenile court, yesterday, by Dr. Bernstein, of Nineteenth and Chestnut streets.

Judge Sulzberger was both interested and puzzled when he heard of the boy's peculiar form of wickedness, says the Philadelphia North American.

"Gets drunk on gasoline!" he exclaimed. "What do you mean?" "Oh," said the doctor, "it is a common trick among the children of the downtown section. They get some gasoline, soak handkerchiefs or stockings in it, and put the cloth over their noses and mouths. In a few minutes they are as drunk as though they had drunk a pint of whisky."

Have you a friend with an automobile? No, I wish I had. But I saw a beautiful car standing in front of your house yesterday. Oh! that was the plumber.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

INTERESTING SERVICES WERE HELD IN CHURCHES YESTERDAY

The Rev. William Grohler Installed at German Lutheran Church--

"Christianity Spelled with Four Letters."

Religion Spelled With Four Letters was the topic of an interesting sermon delivered last night by the Rev. William Grohler at the German Evangelical church. "The word has many questions to ask religiously. Children have questions and the same questions the children ask us," he said. Among all ages of men we may find the seat for truth, we may find the seat for God, and the story of a heritor and all religions are to a certain extent correct.

The preface of his sermon he pointed out clearly the need of getting things and getting religion in one heart. Christianity is spelled with four letters. A different word is an addition to the word as we look to our dictionaries for synonyms. Men have been trying to spell Christianity with nine letters—S-a-c-r-a-m-e-n-t.

"Men have tried to spell Christianity with eight letters—'thing.' They have not tried to find glory but to find knowledge. Others have tried to spell it with seven letters—'charity.' He spends his life to help the poor, yet he may find from his employer for 50 years after enjoying ease may give him for one year and think he is right."

"Men have tried to spell Christianity with six letters—'church.' We may have attendance and men and women that are in their pews Sunday, but church going is not religion although it may be a part. It does not make better men and by going we had better stay at home. Some have tried to spell Christianity with five letters—

"money." People think if they can get enough money to develop their business they are serving God. Because they are honored by the business world they think they are all right. Money never has satisfied God and just with money will never satisfy.

But Christianity may be spelled with four letters—"Love." Our life should be touched with religion as well as our work. In closing Dr. Grohler gave a pointed argument on the need of the religion in one's pleasure and in one's home life.

New Pastor Installed.

In impressive services, according to the church ritual, the Rev. William Grohler, the new pastor of the German Lutheran church, was installed yesterday morning by Dr. Meyer, of St. Louis, at services conducted in the German language. Many communicants partook of the Lord's supper. Last night Dr. Meyer preached in English and another communion service was held. The text for the evening sermon was: "Know That Ye Are Redeemed." Dr. Meyer divided his subject into two parts; from what ye are redeemed, and by what ye are redeemed. He also spoke of the possibilities of the growth of the Evangelical Lutheran church.

Mr. Pearson Lockwood.

"Personal Work" was the subject of Mr. Pearson Lockwood's sermon at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning. His text was "The Love of Christ Constrains Us." The subject was ably covered in the discourse, being a plea for more personal work in soul winning.

A Gat Exhibition--Kentucky State Fair Offers $25,000 in Good Prizes

Their disposition upon the part of the public to display a tired feeling, the announcement is made of a new exposition. In America in the old country, they have been rather fast of late, and therefore of the managers of the Iowa Exposition lends full weight argument which favors having few and far between. This is the case, however, with State F. Like Emerson's brook, they go on forever, the interest increasing each succeeding exhibition apes. Certainly this is true of the Kentucky State Fair. From every side of the commonwealth, and, in many sections of other commonwealths, there is shown a strikeline to make the 1907 Kentucky Fair more than twice as big as 1906.

A Statute, created by the General Assembly, operated by the State Board of Agriculture and supported by a large measure in a premium system, this spirit of friendliness is commended. The managers of the State Fair are building it up as a liberal line so far as all departments are concerned. Five thousand dollars in cash prizes at the coming exhibit will be held in Louisville Sept. 16.

There exhibit departments. All of them are in charge of members of the State Board of Agriculture. Hon. Sitting at Lexington, Judge W. B. Moody, special judge in the cases against the men charged with the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox, declined to grant the motion to remand the cases to Breathitt county and set the hearing for August 26, at Sandy Hook. It takes so much time to show goods when a customer has not a definite idea as to price, quality and amount of material needed. The customer should inform herself as to the different prices of the different qualities of the same material.

It is the best plan always to give a clerk an idea what the material is needed for and how much one cares to pay for it.

Morocco is one of the African states that has given the civilized world trouble for centuries. France will not meet much outside opposition, if she permanently occupies the country and insures the safety of foreigners. All we ask is the open door policy.

What has become of Portugal's revolution?

Tsi Ann intends to abdicate. It is reported, but so far her actions have been characterized by that same calm deliberation, that marks the retirement of Senators Platt and Dewey.

POLITICAL BLACKMAIL.

The political blackmailer is preparing for his harvest season. Every fellow, who has an advertising scheme, will proceed to hold up the candidates. Every unattractive program must have his name on it, the street corners will soon blossom with garlands decorated with the names of the various candidates. Ticket vendors will pursue the luckless nominee to the verge of distraction. None of these schemes can possibly net the candidate a single vote, because he and his opponent stand in the same attitude toward it. He buys only because he fears incurring the enmity of the collector by refusing.

A STRAW VOTE.

Significant results were obtained by the Chicago Tribune in a recent canvass of the editors of Republican newspapers in eleven middle western states: Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, the two Dakotas, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. Of the whole number, 944 preferred Taft for their presidential candidate, and the Illinois and Indiana papers, which support Cannon and Fairbanks, respectively, took him for second choice. There were 184 for Hughes, as first choice, 159 for Fairbanks and 19 for Knox, while 1,000 preferred Roosevelt again, and nearly resides in the fact, that soon the overburdened candidates will be crowded beyond endurance. They will be compelled to take a stand against the imposition, and then the system of blackmail will be ended, temporarily.

Whether we all realize it or not, we have allowed customs to grow up around our political system that discourage all except the hardened and insensitive from following a political career. We demand our best men for office, and then abuse and mistreat candidates, impugn their motives and withhold from them that charity and sympathy, which our understanding of human nature causes us to extend even to the criminal classes.

Unfortunately, it is true, that we have bred a class of self-seeking politicians, who see nothing in our free institutions except a way to make a living off their fellowmen. But we have others, with aspirations to serve their country and state and city, who are moved by an honest love of politics and desire for glory. We have others, whose patriotism might induce them to make a sacrifice of personal affairs to serve the public, but who are not willing to sacrifice all the comforts of life, bend to vicious customs, accept highway robbery as the test of their good fellowship and generosity and general fitness for office, and submit to unjust abuse. The people must not expect that of a man, who doesn't have to yield.

Because a man belongs to our party, or represents in politics interests that aid our party to win, or is a good fellow, we withhold criticism and conceal his flagrant abuses of power and neglect of duty, while, on the other hand, without investigating for ourselves, we accept as in some measure true the vilification of men, we know to be upright in private life, and condemn their public conduct, without acquainting ourselves with facts at first hand.

Instead of candidates fitting on a campaign smile and coming to us to seek our votes, we should go to the candidates, inquire of their fitness and ability. When the voters take a personal interest, especially in their city government, in which they have money invested, and which determines the kind of moral atmosphere in which their children will grow up, we shall have the kind of candidates we desire, much will come to light that is now concealed, and much will be forgiven that is now denounced.

There won't be any blackmail then, either.

When the game bass, that has fed from the minnows of the sucker, swims out in deep water where the sharks are, his sympathy for small fry is touching.

Sociologists love to study human nature in the ghettos and tenements, and yet, there is no creature more interesting to us than the sociologist.

Wall street has experienced a reversal of form, it is said, on account of advance copies of President Roosevelt's speech that fell into their hands, and it is intimated that the president will let up on "trust baiting."

We shall read that speech with interest, to learn whether President Roosevelt has been frightened by the trusts into back-tracking.

CUT OUT THE CRIME.

We accept moving pictures as one of the most innocent diversions ever invented for the pleasure of the city man, and lifelike representations of scenes in remote parts of the world and of public events are educational in their nature; but we do assert that the depiction of life in the Paris slums, for instance, wherein a woman, sitting on a table drinking with a man, nonchalantly shoots her foot and hosiery across the man's lap, and the revolting details of a murder or assault, are neither edifying to the adult, nor particularly beneficial to the adolescent mind. Cut out the crime pictures, Mr. Moving Picture Man.

Harriman said he had been misquoted in saying that he would like to own all the railroads. Of course, we understood, there are some "jerk-water" lines he wouldn't care about.

Peace delegates at The Hague need worry little about disarmament. That is a side of the question that will regulate itself. In any bankrupt few European governments before they come to terms on the subject, but the burden is fast becoming too heavy and a reduction of armament is sure to follow the overburdening of the masses. Then, too, militarism plays its part in hastening the emancipation of the European peoples.

Why is not some move made by the city authorities to provide sidewalks on both sides of Broadway from First street to the wharboast? The city owns a street the full width and the pedestrian travel warrants the improvement.

Second choice, indicating that after Taft the great middle west likes Hughes. Of course, there are other sections to be reckoned with in choosing a presidential candidate, but the attitude of the middle west press is significant.

HUMOR FROM FRANCE.

An astronomer who was much smitten with the charms of a pretty girl said to her:

"When I think of you, I am always reminded of Venus."

"I would rather you thought of Saturn."

"Why?"

"Because of the ring around it!"—Rire.

Doctor (to patient's son-in-law)—

"She is extremely ill, but it is not a question of moments."

Son-in-law—"How long will it be, do you think?"

Doctor—"An hour, or an hour and a half perhaps."

Son-in-law—"O, well, then I've got time to have my lunch in peace at any rate."—Nos Loisirs.

"There is one good way of discovering if your cashiers are dishonest."

"And what is that?"

"If they become extra industrious all of a sudden, you may be sure that they are on the point of robbing you!"—Pele Mele.

Mistress—"You may do my hair now, Felicie."

"Yes, ma'am, which color will you wear today?"

"Black. I'm going to a funeral."—Nos Loisirs.

The summer visitors was discussing with his landlady the possibilities of fine weather for the day and went to the window to look at the weathercock.

"O," said the landlady, "there is no good looking at that old thing. It is so rickety that the least breath of air blows it to and fro."—Bon Vivant.

A well known surgeon was pestered by a rich banker who was continually consulting him about the corns on his toes. After having been assured that these were simply caused by his wearing his boots too tight, the surgeon one day made him remove his shoes and walk about the room barefoot.

"Do they hurt you now?" he asked the banker.

"No, not at all."

"Very well, then, you had better always go like that and then you won't be obliged to consult me so often."—Nos Loisirs.

"How fearfully the mud sticks to the motor wheels this weather."

"Yes, they actually rob the streets of it."—Bon Vivant.

"That's an awfully old motor car you have got there. You ought to do away with it and get a new one."

"Don't abuse it, old chap. With that old machine I once won a prize of three millions."

"Yes, the day I ran off with my wife."—Rire.

Mme. La Baronne (well over 40)—

"O, I daren't talk about my age now. I am such a little way off the thirties."

Mme. La Comtesse—"Above or below?"—Sourire.

"Hullo, old fellow. You are in mourning. I have heard nothing about it. How long have you been a widower?"

"Since the death of my poor wife."—Nos Loisirs.

IN THE COURTS

In Circuit Court.

Clay & Clay filed suit to recover $500 damages from Will and Roy Katterjohn for injury to Mrs. Laura Reynolds in a runaway on the Cairo road, caused by her horse becoming frightened at an automobile driven by Roy Katterjohn and owned by Will Katterjohn. The plaintiff claims to be permanently disabled and claims damages to her horse and buggy.

W. A. Ward sued the Citizens' Life Insurance company for $500, claimed to be due for commissions.

In Bankruptcy.

A schedule of liabilities and assets of the Paducah Furniture Manufacturing company, which was forced into bankruptcy several weeks ago, was filed Saturday afternoon in Referee E. W. Bagby's court. The assets are listed at $161,577.98 and liabilities at $131,577.98. The suit was brought by the heirs of George Rock to ascertain the condition of the business, in order that a settlement may be effected. John Rock has been receiver of the company for some time.

Orders made by Referee in Bankruptcy E. W. Bagby's court today follow:

Will Harris & company, of Murray, an order directing Trustee L. W. Holland to pay to L. C. Linn $3,000. The case is a peculiar one. The firm of Will Harris & company was composed of Will Harris and L. C. Linn. The firm was insolvent. His estate was converted for settlement of firm debts, and exceeded the debts by $3,000.

An order was made ratifying the sale of a farm for $800 to the Bank of Carville in the case of J. F. Watson, of Livingston county.

STORK VERY BUSY.

Eight of Eleven Births Were Twins at Hillyard, Near Spokane.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 19.—The stork is working overtime in the town of Hillyard, a suburb of Spokane, eight of the eleven birth certificates received by the Spokane health department last week telling of twins.

The records for the last four years, would delight the heart of President Roosevelt from the fact that in one family, that of Adolph Hilderbrand, an employee of the Northern Pacific shops, there are now four twins.

While several other families have two and three pairs. Taking into consideration that the death rate of Spokane is less than 8 per cent and that twins are of almost common occurrence there is no reason why the suburb should ever suffer from arrested development, at least so far as population is concerned.

FOREIGNERS SHUN U. S. FARMS.

Immigration Bureau Unable to Solve Labor Problems.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 19.—After a fair test, the Maryland state bureau of immigration finds its efforts to supply the farmers of this state with laborers by assisting immigrants unsatisfactory. August F. Trappe, secretary of the bureau, spent three months of last winter in Europe, and succeeded in bringing 265 laborers here and placing them on Maryland farms. It is found, however, that they do not remain long in the positions given them. The fact that farm laborers do not receive even moderately high pay in this state is held to be in a large measure responsible for the failure of the plan.

Shirt Company at Troy Wilts.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Application was made before United States Court Judge Day at Norwich today for the appointment of a receiver for Curtiss Loggett & company, manufacturers of shirts and collars and cuffs, of Troy.

A petition is filed by three Troy creditors, who allege that the firm is insolvent. The liabilities are placed at $1,100,000, while the assets are said to be nominally $2,000,000.

The company was formed several years ago by the consolidation of other companies. It is said that the stringency of the money market has cramped the company. The concern employs about 1,400 operatives.

British Invade Venezuela.

Georgetown, British Guiana, Saturday, Aug. 19.—Much excitement has been caused here by the invasion of Venezuelan territory by Captain Caldera, in the command of a small frontier force from British Guiana, and the seizure of a quantity of balata (the gum of the bull tree used for insulating wires, etc.) which it is alleged had been collected on British territory.

a waiting game on both sides. The companies claim to be in better shape than on any preceding day, while the officials of the union declare that the telegraph companies are hopelessly crippled. The peace-makers were making no progress in any direction.

The general strike order issued Friday by the union had apparently no effect in this city either yesterday or today. The Western Union today claimed that the only effect it had exerted on the strike was to call out seven men in twenty different states from which they had complete returns. The number may be slightly increased when every office in the United States is heard from, but both the Postal and Western Union declare that the order has not had the slightest effect in interfering with their work.

No More Delay.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 19.—"Subject to delay" is no longer written across messages addressed to Chicago and New York in the St. Paul office of the Postal Telegraph company.

"We have direct wires working with both cities," was the statement made this morning, "and can handle the usual amount of business."

At the Western Union office it was declared that conditions continued to improve.

Case of Violence.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 19.—While several of the telegraph operators who are still at work have received intimations that they would be roughly handled, only one case of violence has so far occurred, the victim being C. W. Summers, assistant manager of the Western Union's cotton exchange office, who was assaulted on St. Charles and Canal at 11 o'clock at night. He made a charge against Fred Butler, who spent the night in jail and will be vigorously prosecuted by the company.

No Serious Inconvenience.

New York, Aug. 19.—The Western Union and the Postal Telegraph companies reiterated tonight that they were doing business without serious inconvenience. The strikers, for their part, still insisted that the situation was satisfactory. The press and other leased wire service, they declare, are fast reaching a normal basis.

Hello Girls Quit.

Athens, O., Aug. 19.—The entire force of operators of the local Home Telephone company walked out yesterday. Linemen and bookkeepers were pressed into service to relieve the congestion. The girls had demanded higher wages. The management claims it will have all places filled in a few days in spite of the scarcity of help and will not take back any of the strikers.

Operator Aged Ten.

Celina, Tex., Aug. 19.—Guy C. Clark, the telegraph operator and assistant station agent of the Frisco railroad, at this place, is only 10 years old. He receives a salary of $25 per month for the road, and is on the payroll of the company.

He has about 1,000 people in his charge.

NEW YORK "BROKE."

City Has On Hand Only $1,000,000 To Pay $4,000,000.

New York, Aug. 19.—Admission is made today that the city of New York is hard pressed to pay its bills, due to the present tight money market and a consequent inability to dispose of city bonds.

It is stated there is about $1,000,000 on hand to meet nearly $4,000,000 of pressing obligations.

Bubonic Plague in Frisco.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The Bubonic plague has broken out in San Francisco, and already one death has resulted from it. The first intimation of the plague was received Thursday from San Francisco by the Marine Hospital service. The telegram read:

"Three cases and death; plague; San Francisco. Diagnosis made clinically and by stained smears from spleen and glands. No reasonable doubt as to certainty of diagnosis of cases seen and verified by Long in conjunction with the health officials. Cases found within two blocks of old Chinatown."

Surgeon Austin telegraphs that two feet had been discovered, that the local board had disinfected known infected buildings and proposed to institute a campaign against rats. He said deaths in the city had been verified and that a general disinfection of suspected districts would begin.

Harriman Denies Interview.

New York, Aug. 19.—E. H. Harriman telegraphs from San Francisco in reference to the interview with him, which appeared in yesterday morning's Echo, Nevada State Journal, and which was sent to the Associated Press newspapers, denying absolutely he made any such statement as that credited to him to the effect that he desired to own all or any part of the railroads; nor did he say anything about his managing the railroads for the government.

Mrs. Taft Worse.

Milbury, Mass., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Taft, mother of the secretary of war, is worse today, her physician, Dr. Church, says. She is afflicted with inflammation of the bladder. It is not said that there is immediate danger.

SOUND LOGIC.

August and September are two months when one has to be very careful about every condition that makes for good, or bad health. The system is usually beginning to feel the strain of the hot summer months and the different organs need but very little to throw them into complete disorder and result in probably a fatal illness.

Good health is assured however if you heed nature's gentle warnings, and are in any measure discreet.

The usual summer disorders—malaria, general wear-out, and run-down, conditions, biliousness, stomach and bowel disorders of all kinds, chronic or acute headaches yield readily, and very quickly, to the Osleopathic treatment, and have no attending ill effects. Usually you are as ill from the customary medical prescriptions as from the illness, but, in Osteopathy you experience none of this. Let me tell you at any time of the great success I am having with life treatment in Paducah. I shall refer you to people you know well for the evidence, and who will tell you just what it has done for them.

Alaska.

It was Charles Sumner who prevented Alaska being named "Walrusia," "American Siberia," "Zero Island" or "Polaria." Each of these outlandish names had its champions, but Mr. Sumner's advocacy of Alaska prevailed. He said that the Peninsular Islands were thus designated by Capt. Cook, the word being translated into "The Great Land." The original spelling was Al-ay-es-ka. It is appropriate, tasteful chaste. No better name could have been chosen for this vast territory of gold and ice. Dawson City and Circle City are not as bad as they might have been. Fortunately, the former is on British soil. Juneau City is wrong. Dyea is frightful. We must no longer leave the naming of villages, towns and cities to gold hunters.—New York Press.

Parachute Did Not Open.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 19.—An error in estimating the distance from the earth today cost Theodore A. French, a young aeronaut, his life through the failure of his parachute to open during a voyage at Lavin Rock. French ascended inside a wooden cannon from which he was to appear to be shot with his parachute. The balloon mounted upward for 1,000 feet and then fell rapidly. The young aeronaut, unable to see that the balloon had descended, pulled the spring which precipitated him into the air, and the parachute did not have time to open before the youth struck a factory roof, 400 feet below.

GEO. ADE'S FABLES

The Galley Slave Who Was Just About to, but Never Did.

(Copyright, 1902, 1903, by Robert Howard Russell.)

HE CAME INTO THE CUTAWAY.

Derby for Sunday, and a 14-karat De Beers set in a massive Gold Band. He learned to embrace the Country Trade and talk 175 Words per Minute, so that in a little while he had an offer from an Oppositive Concern. Whereupon he said he had to leave, but the House stood for an Intertense.

He came into the Cutaway and the Ring, and then he found that he needed a Spike-Tail and a Folding-Hat and a Cape-Coat. His Glad Raiment carried him right into Sussietty, and he began to meet Gazettes that suited him, so he figured on the Probable Expense of Keeping House.

He thought that if he could annex a good-looking Tottle with large, soulful Eyes, and take an Apartment and keep a Girl, then he would be fixed for sure.

So he went out for more Salary and carried the Bank-Book next to his Heart. At last the Proud Day arrived when he had his own Flat, with a rented Piano in the Front Room and Tiddles on the Chairs. Before the Lease expired he discovered that the Dining-Room was too small, and began to dream Dreams of a House of their Own in which they could Entertain. So he tucked back his Cuffs and took a fresh Grip on the World of Trade, and boned like a Turk, making Payments on the House. He was beginning to look round-shouldered, but he drank plenty of Coffee and smoked fat Cigars and buckled down.

He had it all planned to take a good Rest as soon as he had lifted the Mortgage. He went so far as to send out for Time-Tables and look at the Pictures of People sitting around in Steamer Chairs enjoying the Sea Air. He would have taken a nice, long Vacation, only he saw a Chance to break into the Firm. Accordingly he went in Debt up to his Eyes. He would be awake at Night casting up his Liabilities and computing Interest. He talked to himself on the Street, and acted just the least bit Dippy. But he was determined to swing the Deal, and then, as soon as he was out of the Woods, he could take a Trip and hang around Picture-Galleries.

For Years he had said that it was a Crime for any one Man to pile up more than $100,000. As soon as he went above that Figure it was a Case of sitting up Nights to count it. As soon as he had that Hundred-Thousand the Union Station, but the Man who is being gnawed by the Mazuma Bacillus thinks he is a Pauper unless he can count up Seven Figures. He is always sizing up alongside of Rockefeller and Morgan, and he feels like a Piker sitting in a stiff Poker Game with one White Seed.

Just about the time the Business Man counted up $100,000 to the Good he discovered that he needed seven Servants around the House. And the Missus could float downtown on a sunny Afternoon and make $1,000 look like a Pinch of Small Change.

He set his Mark at One Million. Then, when he had that, out to the Sylvan Dell. He was going to be a Gentleman Farmer.

Every Office Building on Earth is congested with hollow-eyed Prisoners who are planning to be Gentleman Farmers. About next Year or Year after—away from the Hurly Burly and nothing to do except raise Chickens.

All of them have those Chicken Dreams. This Business Man whom we are describing even went so far as to pick out the kind of Chickens he was going to raise—Plymouth Rocks. He figured how many Eggs he could get per Hen, and sometimes, when the Pencil was working well, he estimated that he could make the Place self-supporting.

In the mean time he was humping himself and eating Penkin Tablets and taking a little something every Night to make him Sleep.

The Business had developed so that of him, and kept two Stenographers busy, and was jumping from the Long-Distance Phone to the Private Office most of the Time, and chewing up 30-cent Cigars, and in other Ways giving a correct Imitation of a Man who has a large and ambitious Family on Hand.

He began to look Wild out of the Eyes and had a severe Case of the Jumps, but he had to postpone that Rest for a little While, because no one else understood all the Details of the Business.

When the Doctor hinted about Nervous Prostration he said that he was trying to get the whole Organization down to a System, so that some one else could step in and run it, after which he expected to take a Place in the Country and raise a nice Cutaway Suit, a swell

WOULD BE ALL RIGHT IN A DAY OR SO.

Large Business so that he could turn it over to some one else and then have his Vacation, he began to put in 16 hours a Day, and landed in the large Corner Room, with a Trained Nurse putting ice on his Head and telling him he would be all right in a Day or so.

He had a ticker put in at one side of the Bed, and kept a Stenographer on hand up to the Afternoon that he departed this life.

It is said that when he went to his Reward he was met by a Celestial Attendant, who proved to be the Recording Angel.

"If you're the Recording Angel, get out your Book," said the Business Man. "I want you to take a few Letters for me."

MORAL: The Chicken Ranch is always in the Future Tense.

He'll Stick to His Pipe.

One particular objection many of the men patrons have to the big palatial hotels in the city is that they can't smoke their favorite pipes in the public halls without becoming the cynosure of all eyes.

"The other evening," said a guest at the St. Regis, "I sat down in one of the comfortable armchairs in the hall to enjoy my old pipe that's been my constant friend for the last seven years. There were several people sitting near me, most of whom were men, and one or two were smoking cigars, and that made me a little uncertain as to whether I should be violating an etiquette rule of the house."

"I drew out my briar and after I had got it going comfortably, I noticed that the guests near me began to melt away by ones and twos, until presently I was left with a good share of the hall to myself. Some of them did not leave the hall altogether, but moved to seats fartherest from me. Of course, I knew what the cause was, but I didn't care. In my opinion, the man who smokes a pipe is a heap sight better than any dozen men who smoke cigars and cigarettes."

Itinerant Printer Creates Excitement at Illinois Central Passenger Station.

W. W. Hoskins, a one legged itinerant printer, gave a marvelous exhibition of contortion feats at the Illinois Central station this morning much to the amusement of a large crowd of waiting passengers, and to the chagrin of Patrolmen Cross and Johnson, particularly the former.

"Say, show me a cop," solicited Hoskins, as he ambled up to Attorney C. C. Grassham, who pointed out the patrolmen a short distance away. Hoskins was under the influence of drink. Taking Patrolman Cross by surprise he lapped a Terry McGovern upper cut, although somewhat awkwardly delivered by reasons of a handicap from crutches, on the patrolman's jaw.

"Here, what do you mean?" Patrolman Cross asked, started by the action. He recovered before an answer could be given, and seized Hoskins. Patrolman Johnson came to the rescue, and taking crutches away from the cripple, carried him kicking to the far end of the platform to await the coming of the patrol wagon. Hoskins squirmed in an astonishing manner, and while held high in the air, landed a cork sock kick on the side of Patrolman Cross' head, which sent his hat flying.

Night policemen several times tried to run Hoskins from the depot platform. When Patrolmen Cross and Johnson came on duty this morning, they renewed attempts, and had angered Hoskins. He threatened as he was being hauled away to go back and "haunt" Patrolman Cross, telling into his ear things he would not like to have the world know. All the time a crowd of fifty women and men stood about listening to Hoskins' ravings.

Both of One Mind.

A fat Irish woman, bearing a number of bundles, entered a crowded tramcar. The only semblance of a seat she could find was a small space at the right of a disagreeable youth. Into this space sufficient only for an individual of ordinary size, the Irish woman squeezed herself, much to the annoyance of the youth. After a moment or so the Irish woman produced a cheese sandwich, which she proceeded to devour with every evidence of relish. At this the youth gave her a look of ineffable disgust, and drew the skirts of his frock coat closer to him. "I suppose, me lad," good naturedly said the woman, "that ye'd pray-fer-r to have a gentleman sittin' next to ye?" "I certainly would," snapped the youngster. "So would I," calmly responded the fat person.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Agricultural Wealth.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—The agricultural year book from the department of agriculture furnishes the best information as to the great wealth of the United States. Reprinted from the year book is a pamphlet of statistics, crowded with figures which show the seat of empire in farm productions in the different states.

The corn crop of 1906 amounted to 2,927,824,585 bushels, or 46 per cent these states, ranking in the order named, were Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas. Iowa continues her long maintained rank as the first of the great corn states, producing over 373,275,000 bushels. Texas produced more corn than any other southern state, the yield being 155,804,782 bushels. The new state of Oklahoma, conceding the territories of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as admitted, produced 134,290,500 bushels. The southern state next was Kentucky, with 105,437,376 bushels; Tennessee next with 86,428,912 bushels. Oklahoma produced three times as much corn as Alabama, whose yield was 47,849,392 bushels.

The average farm price of corn per bushel ranged from 29 cents in Nebraska to 85 cents in Arizona, while the average price for the United States was 41.2 cents. The average price in the cotton states was 57.2 cents. The highest average price per bushel in the last ten years was in 1901, when it was 60.5 cents; the lowest in 1897, when it was 26.3 cents.

Kansas ranked as first in wheat production, with North Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska and Indiana ranking as named. These five states produced 315,897,819 bushels out of the total for the United States of 736,260,970 bushels, or 42.9 per cent of the whole. Oklahoma produced more wheat than any other southern state—21,554,050 bushels, or about twice as much as Tennessee, which produced 10,892,725 bushels. Wheat ranged in price—Chicago cash—from 72 3/4 to 75 cents. The year book statistics, giving prices for the last 40 years, shows the highest price of wheat was in 1867—ranging from $1.26 to $1.40. The highest price in the last ten years was in 1904, the range being $1.15, $1.22. Kansas, the leading wheat state, produced 81,830,611 bushels, or almost four times as much as Oklahoma, which led the southern states.

Five states, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Nebraska, produced one-half of the oats crops of the United States—484,456,660 out of a total of 961,904,522 bushels.

Five states produced 73 per cent of the barley grown in the United States. They were Minnesota, California, South Dakota, Wisconsin and North Dakota, their combined crop being 131,426,420 out of 178,592,484 bushels.

Rye was most productive in Pennsylvania, four other states with her, Michigan, Wisconsin, New York and Nebraska, producing out of the total for the country of 33,374,833 bushels. 62 per cent, or 29,796,487 bushels.

Nearly all the buckwheat was grown in five states, New York leading and Pennsylvania, Michigan, West Virginia and Virginia following. The five produced 12,297,328 bushels, or 83 per cent of the whole. New York and Pennsylvania produced together 10,897,488 bushels, or about three-fourths of the buckwheat crop of the United States.

Tobacco and Potatoes.

New York was first in hay production, with Iowa, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan coming in the order named. They produced 21,626,207 bushels, or 37 per cent of the total crop—57,145,959 tons. The average farm price per ton of hay differed widely in the states, the lowest being $4.50 in the two Dakotas to $17.40 per ton in Connecticut.

New York also contributed more than any other state to the potato crop, the five states of New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Maine, producing 161,837,908 bushels, or 52 per cent of the entire country's crop. There was a very wide range of prices per bushel—from 39 cents in Wisconsin to $1.10 in Georgia and Florida. The average for Tennessee was 62 cents, and for her neighbors directly south of her, Alabama and Mississippi, respectively 93 and 87 cents.

Kentucky now raises more than three times as much tobacco as any other state, the yield of 1906 being 252,309,000 pounds; Ohio was next, with 74,209,000; Virginia, 73,555,425; North Carolina, 69,807,649; Wisconsin, 49,725,000. These five states produced 519,588,065 pounds, or 76 per cent of the crop of the United States. The other states which had had any considerable tobacco production were: Pennsylvania, 35,750,000; Tennessee, 34,609,000; Con-

A Wonderful Electrical Railroad.

Genoa and Milan are to be connected by a marvelous electric railroad 83 miles in length, which is to cost $47,000,000. The excessive cost of it is owing to the nature of the country through which the line will pass. It will require 19 tunnels, one of which will be 12 miles long. There will be 372 bridges and the road will be six years in the course of construction. The cost of the line construction alone will be $500,000 per mile. The line will be double-tracked and there will be no grade crossings. Trains will consist of three cars, each accommodating 50 passengers. It is proposed to run 20 trains a day, and it is estimated that the daily traffic will be 600 passengers. A very complete schedule has been arranged to take care of the express and local traffic as well as the freight of that section of the country. The power will be derived from a 24,000-horsepower hydraulic generating plant.

Very frequently the most inferior goods depend on their sale by having a green stamp on the neck of the bottle. This counts for nothing without merit and quality is in the bottle.

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases. If we could properly investigate them and to the benefit of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach and liver invigorator, blood purifier, and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of grateful testimonials contained in the book. These women have been cured of irregularities, prolapses and other displacements caused by weakness, displacement of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper.

A Sad State of Affairs.

Mother's at the seashore.
Sister's gone away;
Brother Bill is catching perch,
Out there on the bay.
Every one is happy,
Having lots of fun;
Cepting Dad, who never will
Get the dishes done.
Heaped up in the kitchen,
All the dishes stand;
All the common china,
All the Haviland.
Mother's been away a month,
Dad has used them all;
Now he's eating off the plates
That decorate the wall.

Mother, mother, hurry,
Come back from the shore;
Dad can only find enough
Plates for two meals more.
He is up against it,
While you stay away,
Now he's eating breakfast food
From the large ash tray.

He will not wash the dishes—
He piles them in the sink;
If you could only see them now,
I wonder what you'd think.
Oh, hurry, mother, hurry,
Come back to us today,
For father hasn't washed a dish
Since first you went away.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized from the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"So is the man who reverses the divine law and hates his neighbor instead of loving him," retorted Shirley. She spoke more boldly, beginning to feel more sure of her ground, and it amused her to fence in this way with the man of millions. So far, she thought, he had not got the best of her. She was fast becoming used to him, and her first feeling of intimidation was passing away.

"Um," grunted Ryder. "You're a curious girl. Upon my word you interest me!" He took the mass of papers lying at his elbow and pushed them over to her. "Here," he said, "I want you to make as clever a book out of this chaos as you did out of your own imagination."

Shirley turned the papers over carefully. "So you think your life is a good example to follow?" she asked, with a tinge of irony.

"Isn't it?" he demanded.

The girl looked him square in the face.

"Suppose," she said, "we all wanted to follow it; suppose we all wanted to be the richest, the most powerful personage in the world?"

"Well, what then?" he demanded.

"I think it would postpone the era of the brotherhood of man indefinitely, don't you?"

"I never thought of it from that point of view," admitted the millionaire.

"Really," he added, "you're an extraordinary girl. Why, you can't be more than twenty or so."

"I'm twenty four or so," smiled Shirley.

Ryder's face expanded in a broad smile. He admired this girl's pluck and ready wit. He grew more amiable and tried to gain her confidence. In a coming tone he said:

"Come, where did you get those details? Take me into your confidence."

"I have taken you into my confidence," laughed Shirley, pointing at her book. "It costs you $150." Turning over the papers he had put before her, she said presently, "I don't know about this."

"You don't think my life would make good reading?" he asked, with some asperity.

"It might," she replied slowly, as if unwilling to commit herself as to its commercial or literary value. Then she said frankly: "To tell you the honest truth, I don't consider mere genius in money making is sufficient provocation for rushing into print. You see, unless you come to a bad end, it would have no moral."

Ignoring the not very flattering insinuation contained in this last speech, the plutocrat continued to urge her:

"You can name your own price if you will do the work," he said. "Two, three or even five thousand dollars. It's only a few months' work."

"Five thousand dollars!" echoed Shirley. "That's a lot of money."

Smiling, she added: "It appeals to my commercial sense. But I'm afraid the subject does not arouse my enthusiasm from an artistic standpoint."

Ryder seemed amused at the idea of any one hesitating to make $5,000. He knew that writers do not run across such opportunities every day.

"Upon my word," he said, "I don't know why I'm so anxious to get you to do the work. I suppose it's because you don't want to. You remind me of my son. Ah, he's a problem!"

Shirley started involuntarily when Ryder mentioned his son. But he did not notice it.

"Why, is he wild?" she asked, as if only mildly interested.

"Oh, no; I wish he were," said Ryder. "Fallen in love with the wrong woman, I suppose," she said.

"Something of the sort. How did you guess?" asked Ryder, surprised.

Shirley coughed to meet her embarrassment and replied indifferently:

"So many boys do that. Besides," she added, with a mischievous twinkle in her eyes, "I can hardly imagine that any woman would be the right one unless you selected her yourself!"

Ryder made no answer. He folded his arms and gazed at her. Who was this woman who knew him so well, who could read his inmost thoughts, who never made a mistake? After a silence he said:

"Do you know you say the strangest things?"

"Truth is strange," replied Shirley carelessly. "I don't suppose you hear it very often."

"Not in that form," admitted Ryder. "Shirley had taken on to her lap some of the letters he had passed her and was perusing them one after another."

"All these letters from Washington consulting you on politics and finance—they won't interest the world."

"My secretary picked them out," explained Ryder. "Your artistic sense will tell you what to use."

"Does your son still love this girl? I mean the one you object to," inquired Shirley as she went on sorting the papers.

"Oh, no, he does not care for her any more," answered Ryder hastily.

"Yes, he does. He still loves her," said Shirley positively.

"How do you know?" asked Ryder, amazed.

"From the way you say he doesn't," retorted Shirley.

Ryder gave his caller a look in which admiration was mingled with astonishment.

"You are right again," he said. "The idiot does love the girl."

"Bless his heart!" said Shirley to herself. Aloud she said:

"I hope they'll both outwit you."

Ryder laughed in spite of himself. This young woman certainly interested him more than any other he had ever known.

"I don't think I ever met any one in my life quite like you," he said.

"What's the objection to the girl?" demanded Shirley.

"Every objection. I don't want her in my family."

"Anything against her character?"

"To better conceal the keen interest she took in the personal turn the conversation had taken, Shirley pretended to be more busy than ever with the papers."

"Yes—that is, no—not that I know of," replied Ryder. "But because a woman has a good character, that doesn't necessarily make her a desirable match, does it?"

"It's a point in her favor, isn't it?"

"Yes, but—" He hesitated as if uncertain what to say.

"You know men well, don't you, Mr. Ryder?"

"I've met enough to know them pretty well," he replied.

"Why don't you study women for a change?" she asked. "That would enable you to understand a great many things that I don't think are quite clear to you now."

Ryder laughed good humoredly. It was decidedly a novel sensation to have some one lecturing him.

"I'm studying you," he said, "but I don't seem to make much headway. A woman like you whose mind isn't spoiled by the amusement habit has great possibilities—great possibilities. Do you know you're the first woman I ever took into my confidence—I mean at sight? Again he fixed her with that keen glance which in his business life had taught him how to read men. He continued: "I'm acting on sentiment—something I rarely do, but I can't help it. I like you, upon my soul I do, and I'm going to introduce you to my wife—my son!"

He took the telephone from his desk as if he were going to use it.

"What a commander in chief you would have made—how natural it is for you to command!" exclaimed Shirley in a burst of admiration that was half real, half mocking. "I suppose you always tell people what they are to do and how they are to do it. You are a born general. You know I've often thought that Napoleon and Caesar and Alexander must have been great domestic leaders as well as imperial rulers. I'm sure of it now."

Ryder listened to her in amazement. He was not quite sure if she were making fun of him or not.

"Well, of all"—he began; then interrupting himself he said amiably, "Won't you do me the honor to meet my family?"

Shirley smiled sweetly and bowed.

"Thank you, Mr. Ryder, I will."

She rose from her seat and leaned over the manuscript to conceal the satisfaction this promise of an introduction to the family circle gave her. She was quick to see that it meant more visits to the house and other and perhaps better opportunities to find the objects of her search. Ryder lifted the receiver of his telephone and talked to his secretary in another room, while Shirley, who was still standing, continued examining the papers and letters.

"Is that you, Bagley? What's that? General Dodge? Get rid of him. I can't see him today. Tell him to come tomorrow. What's that? My son?"

wants to see me? Tell him to come to the phone."

At that instant Shirley gave a little cry, which in vain she tried to suppress. Ryder looked up.

"What's the matter?" he demanded, startled.

"Nothing, nothing," she replied in a hoarse whisper. "I pricked myself with a pin. Don't mind me."

She had just come across her father's missing letters, which had got mixed up, evidently without Ryder's knowledge, in the mass of papers he had handed her. Prepared as she was to find the letters somewhere in the house, she never dreamed that fate would put them so easily and so quickly into her hands; the suddenness of her appearance and the sight of her father's familiar signature affected her almost like a shock. Now she had them, she must not let them go again; yet how could she keep them unobserved? Could she conceal them?

Would he miss them? She tried to slip them in her bosom while Ryder was busy at the phone, but he suddenly glanced in her direction and caught her eye. She still held the letters in her hand, which shook from nervousness, but he noticed nothing and went on speaking through the phone:

"Hello, Jefferson, boy! You want to see me. Can you wait till I'm through? I've got a lady here. Going away? Nonsense! Determined, eh? Well, I can't keep you here if you've made up your mind. You want to say goodbye. Come up in about five minutes, and I'll introduce you to a very interesting person."

He laughed and hung up the receiver. Shirley was all unstrung, trying to overcome the emotion which her discovery had caused her, and in a strangely altered voice, the result of the nervous strain she was under, she said:

"You want me to come here?"

She looked up from the letters she was reading across to Ryder, who was standing watching her on the other side of the desk. He caught her glance and, leaning over to take some manuscript, he said:

"Yes, I don't want these papers to go."

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

Pump cheeks, flushed with the soft glow of health and a pure complexion make all women beautiful. Take a small dose of Herbine after each meal; it will prevent constipation and help digest what you have eaten. Mrs. Wm. M. Stroud, Middletown, Tex., writes, May 11, 1931: "We have used Herbine in our family for eight years, and found it the best medicine we ever used for constipation, bilious fever and malaria." Sold by J. H. Oehlischlaeger, Lang Bros. and C. O. Ripley.

Dispensing Fog at Sea.

The fog-dispersing station proposed by M. M. Dibos includes a very large Ruhmkorff coil, giving a spark of about one meter, with a primary current from accumulators or a dynamo. In the primary circuit are a rotating interrupter and a condenser, in parallel. The current induced in the secondary circuit is converted from alternating into intermittent by two series of four Cooper Hewitt mercury-vapor rectifiers, and then passes to the inner coating of two large Leyden jars, with connected outer coatings. From one jar a wire leads to earth. A wire from the other—the positive electrode—runs to the top of an antenna mast, and there a crown of points scatters the electric waves into the air. With such apparatus clear spaces 300 to 400 feet across have been formed in dense fog. Such spaces would be useful in harbors and on railways, but every vessel at sea needs clearness for at least a quarter of a mile in every direction.

Portable Wireless Telegraphy.

A German engineer named Heinkel has invented a system of wireless telegraphy for short distance service which can be transported from point to point with remarkable ease and rapidity. It is expected that the system will come into general use in connection with the military reconnoitering operations, naval landing parties and other similar purposes. The transmitting and receiving apparatus are both fitted in one small case, with a weight of approximately 40 pounds, which can thus be carried on a man's back. The weight of the pole for the wires and other accessories is approximately 150 pounds so that an entire station weighs approximately 190 pounds. A station can be moved from place to place by three men, and five men are able to erect it ready for use in eight minutes. The cost of a station is $1,500, and the range of communication about twenty-five miles.—New York Tribune.

NO PANIC

FORMER SECRETARY OF TREASURY SHAW ADVISES.

Real Sources of People's Wealth Unaffected By Stock Market Conditions.

New York, Aug. 19.—Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, authorized the following interview on the present financial and industrial conditions today:

"Our farms produce more than $6,500,000,000 per annum, and the prospect is good for an average crop. Our mines yield more than $1,500,000,000 and our forests more than $1,000,000,000. And neither of these sources of wealth has been exhausted. The output of our factories, in other than food products, is $12,000,000,000. The railroads earn more than $2,000,000,000, and they are all in successful operation. The pay rolls of our factories and railroads aggregate approximately $3,500,000,000, and the scale of wages has not been reduced.

"In other words, the real sources of the people's wealth have not yet been affected and the ability of industrial concerns to pay dividends is not measured by the market price of their stocks. Logical reasons for serious conditions are therefore wanting. Psychological reasons are not, however, wanting anywhere.

"If I judge correctly, the people will have exactly what they expect. If those who have money in the banks withdraw it and lock it up; if the banks refuse to grant accommodations and if the consuming public declines to place orders, then we will very soon witness the effects. Let those who think that times of disaster follow each other at regular intervals bear in mind that this country never yet experienced a period of severe depression that was not traceable to financial or economic agitation.

THREE LOSE LIVES.

Great Barrington, Mass., Aug. 19.—An automobile containing a party of five persons from Bristol, Conn., collided with the New York-Pittsfield express at Ashley Falls crossing near here Sunday. Three of the motoring party were killed and the other two probably fatally injured. The dead: Charles J. Root, 40 years old, an automobile manufacturer of Bristol; Mrs. Root, his mother; Miss Roberts, sister of Mrs. Root; Miss Mary Root, daughter of Charles J. Root, was removed to the hospital at Pittsfield, where her condition was reported as critical.

Miss Katherine Root, niece of Mrs. Root, is suffering from internal injuries.

DIAMOND TRUST SCHEME TO GIVE KING DIAMOND.

Johannesburg, Aug. 19.—Premier Botha's proposition to present the great Cullin's diamond to King Edward is bitterly resented by the Boers. They declare they are not willing to tax themselves in order to buy a gem worth millions from the diamond trust. The trust, they say, has been concocting the scheme to have the government buy the stone because it was unable to sell it to any American millionaire.

RAILROAD NOTES

"There is more work in Paducah shops today than we have ever had in the history of the shops, at least since I have been here, and that has been for many years," declared a shop foreman this morning. There was hustle and bustle everywhere and work was being turned out as fast as possible. The shops are working full forces in every department, and rush orders are forever coming in.

"Yes, we have more work than ever before, I believe," stated another foreman. "The locomotive department is full to my certain knowledge, as are the freight car repairing shops. The boiler shops, and blacksmith shops are working full forces, and we have more work than we can handle."

Because of the tremendous increase in freight traffic over the Louisville, Nashville and Memphis districts, new engines have been ordered for the former division, to run between Paducah and Central City. They arrived this morning and are larger than the 850 class moguls. They are numbers 906,907,908 and 909. They will pull coal and ballast trains.

Because of the heavy business in the shops, officials are constantly keeping an eye on Paducah and Mr. J. G. Neuffer, assistant superintendent of machinery, is now in this territory.

Trainmaster A. F. Page went up the Louisville division this morning on business.

Mr. Milley Clark, the Illinois Central tinner, and family, have returned from Illinois lakes, where they had been on a week's camping expedition. They caught many fish and had an excellent outing.

Prospects for a settlement of the pipe fitters' strike, which has been on for three months on the Missouri and Pacific and Iron Mountain roads, this week are good. It is stated by Paducahans, who have watched the situation that the conference granted by General Mechanical Superintendent Smith, who had heretofore ignored strikers, will settle the strike. Several Paducah men have relatives among strikers.

PEACE WILL REIGN.

Taft, the Peacemaker, Settles Differences Between Governments.

Washington, April 19.—Secretary Taft yesterday concluded an arrangement with representatives of the governments of the United States of Colombia and Panama for the settlement of the issues between these countries and the United States growing out of the separation of Panama and Colombia and the creation of the canal zone. Secretary Taft has undertaken these negotiations at the request of Secretary Root because of his familiarity with the question involved.

HOUSE OF LORDS

WILL BE SEVERELY HANDLED FOR CYNICAL ATTITUDE.

English Commons and Public Indignant Over Action of Upper Board.

London, Aug. 19.—The conduct of the house of lords the past week has further increased the feeling of bitterness and anger among the people, and the leaders of the liberal party declare, if they are compelled to appeal to the country against the lords, they will insist on a more drastic plan of reform for the gilded chamber than that the premier has already suggested.

The lords seem to be agreed to defy the commons and the will of the people by emasculating all important reform measures passed by the commons.

If the lords continue their cynical policy it is probable that a general election can not be avoided after another session. The lords this week destroyed by amendments the evicted tenants bill for the relief of Ireland and the criminal court appeal, enabling convicted people to appeal, which is now impossible.

The lord's attack upon the establishment of a court for criminal appeal is deeply resented. The conduct of the noblemen is welcomed by the Socialist party, because it is rapidly making the workmen Socialists. If the lords do not reform they may be reformed out of existence if the Socialists get control of parliament, which is not an impossibility.

PENSION PRINTERS IS PROPOSITION OF TYPOS.

Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 19.—After a week's session here the fifty-third annual convention of the International Typographical union adjourned Saturday to meet next year in Boston. What is regarded as the most important feature of the entire convention was the adoption of a resolution appointing and referring to the subordinate unions the proposition to levy an assessment to provide a pension fund for disabled members over sixty years of age and who have been members for not less than twenty years.

ENGLAND INTERESTED.

London, Aug. 19.—Secretary Taft's announcement that he favors a federal inheritance tax has aroused much interest in England where a large proportion of the income of the government is derived from such a tax. Dead Near Scene of Crime.

Covington, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Within a short distance of where his crime was committed, near a cotton pen in his own field, pursued by the nemesis of his crime, and by his neighbors, footsore and, perhaps, physically exhausted, Joseph Bradshaw, who was accused of having criminally assaulted Miss Mattie Billings, and poisoned her with corrosive sublimate, took his own life. This morning about 9 o'clock Messrs. Pink Little and Andrew Jones, two citizens of district No. 3, discovered the body of Bradshaw lying on the ground. A great gash in his throat and his open pocket-knife lying by his side told the story of the manner in which he met his death.

RAISED BILL

CRUDE WORK BUT EFFECTIVE IN SWINDLE CASE.

Woman Is Said To Have Confessed To Raising a One Dollar Bill.

Charged with passing a "raised bill," Ed Scott and Jennie Clarke, colored, were presented in the police court this morning and their case continued for want of more witnesses. Jim Jones, colored, residing at Third and Harrison streets, claims that Scott passed on him a $1 bill "raised" crudely to $5. By diligent work Patrolmen Clark and Shelby worked up a case against Jennie Clarke. Patrolman Clark sweated her out of a confession that she gave the bill to Scott, telling him of its nature, and urging him to pass it. The work is crudely performed, and can be detected at a glance. Government secret service men have been apprised of the act, and are expected here daily.

A TRILBY IN REAL LIFE.

Bessie Abbott Cannot Sing Unless Her Sister is Present.

That she is a Trilby in real life—drawing her inspiration from the psychic bond existing between herself and her twin sister, Jessie, whose presence in the audience when she sings is necessary to her success—was the remarkable assertion frankly made yesterday by Miss Bessie Abbott, one of Herr Conried's most famous donnas.

Miss Abbott's admission was all the more astonishing because of two announcements she was making. One was that rumors that she was engaged were true, she jealously keeping secret the identity of her betrothed; the other was that as long as she remained on the stage her sister must never marry. This part of her statement was made on account of recent reports that Jessie was engaged to James G. Blaine.

"I will never sing again," declared the prima donna firmly, "if my sister deserts me or allows her sympathies to be directed in another channel."

"From my first appearance on the stage Jessie has always been in the audience. Even if I did not see her I knew that she was there. I knew she would help me whenever there came a difficult passage of which I might be the least bit afraid."

"I believe it is the proper thing for a singer to be a married woman, for, without marriage she will not get the necessary breadth of view; but I don't want Jessie to get married; my success is half hers; without her undivided sympathy I can have none at all."

The beautiful singer admitted that she is to be married in the fall to a young man whose name she will not reveal until she returns in September from a trip across the ocean.

At the Metropolitan opera house last season a pretty slip of a girl occupied an inconspicuous place near the stage when Abbott was to appear. When Bessie Abbott was on the stage she sat gazing at the singer, her eyes burning with excitement, her face rigid as marble, her hands clasped in front of her. She hung on every note that was emitted by the singer, and was all life and fire and purpose until the singer left the stage, when she sank back into her seat with a sigh of exhaustion, and remained there with closed eyes until the Abbott appeared again.

In appearance the sisters are much alike, but in temperament quite different. Bessie is vivacious, full of life, spirits, energy and thirst for achievement. Jessie is quiet, abnormally timid, shy and shrinking from all contact with the world. Music is her only passion—that and the musical success of her sister. She adheres relentlessly to her determination, never again to appear in public.

"It is enough that Bessie is successful," she says. "I want her to be great. When she is singing I think and think, and somehow, I don't know how, I can't help knowing in advance when anything is to be hard for her. I feel and know when anything is wrong, and then all my sympathy for her goes out. Perhaps she sees it in my eyes."
